Take it to the strip saw/ scroll saw, then cut along the lines already made. It was only then that I noticed that the blade of the band saw was not far enough away. (Advice- make a minor puzzle) If you're in a big puzzle, you have to do what I do. I started cutting funny shaped slices, (See picture 1.), but then realized that you could keep cutting slices down the end until you can cut along the lines marked. Please excuse the lighting of the pictures; It was evening and it wasn't very bright in the store. Our editors independently research, test and recommend the best products; you can read more about the review process here. We may receive a commission on purchases made from selected links.
